

This short article exposes a Brazilian "holy man" who turned out to be a long-term professional sexual predator, slaver, selling human babies, raping and murdering hundreds of women. Most all Brazilians are part black—due to slavery, not by whites, but by Portuguese, and most Brazilians are also part indigenous primitives. Jews, Turks, Arabs and Africans ruled the slave trade for thousands of years ... yet all white people living today are presumed, due to Jewish propaganda, to be the guilty ones because less than 1% of Americans owned slaves 150 years ago (and probably 50-70% of the white U.S. population did not even have ancestors here in the U.S. at the time of slavery -- but they are still presumed guilty simply because they are white ... even though whites have paid trillions of dollars in welfare over the past 70 years, and despite the fact that millions of our people have been raped and murdered by blacks in the U.S., and even though the very few whites who owned slaves treated them very well.

The Israelis (mostly “Jews”) also lure European women with promises of being well paid nannies, take away their passports and sell them into forced prostitution.

Oprah Winfrey was the "Dr. Spock" of the previous generation. Millions of stupid white women hung on her every word, because she put on a good show, gave away a few trinkets to the crowd or a few token donations to charities—all the while funding anti-white, socialist, anti-Christian organizations. Recently she said “there is a whole generation of white people marinated in racism who simply need to die”. She got away with saying this because she is a propaganda tool of the “Jew” media moguls. However, when she visited her homeland in Africa, she was disgusted and could not wait to get back on the plane and get out of there.

Just like the mythical "noble savage" their entire house-of-cards propaganda is built upon myths. Those who believe them help destroy their own families and all of Christendom.

The true story of how Oprah Winfrey helped promote a mass rapist who ran a child slave farm

Sunday, February 17, 2019 by: Ethan Huff

(Natural News) Back in 2010, talk show guru Oprah Winfrey dedicated an entire episode of her show to a self-professing “faith healer” with whom she claims she had a “blissful” encounter. But as we recently reported, this “faith healer” has since been exposed as a serial rapist who had actually been operating a massive child “sex slave farm” and “birth factory” behind his religious facade.

At the time, Oprah was convinced that Joao Teixeira de Faria, more popularly known as “John of God,” was the real deal. She contends that she almost fainted upon first meeting him, as his presence was apparently too much for her to handle, causing her to feel “an overwhelming sense of peace.”

Entitled, “Leap of Faith: Meet John of God,” this particular episode of Oprah’s show is said to have generated interest in John of God. Because of Oprah, in other words, tens of millions of people who had previously never heard of John of God were quickly introduced to the many “amazing miracles” of this “faith healer,” which include tales of him healing a woman of cancer simply by slicing into her breast without anesthesia and removing a tumor.

John of God is also said to have healed many other people simply by touching them and saying a succinct prayer, which would seem to make him a modern-day miracle worker, of sorts, with supernatural healing powers – or so his followers were led to believe.

Fast-forward to 2019 and hundreds of women have come forward with claims that John of God raped them. The “faith healer” is also being accused of recruiting young girls to his many “child slave farms,” where they were repeatedly impregnated as part of a “birth factory,” before eventually being killed off and discarded.

One of these women, Zahira Lieneke Mous of Holland, reportedly told The New York Times that she first heard about John of God “from a friend and had seen Oprah Winfrey’s documentary.” A victim of previous sexual assault, Mous confided in John of God, believing him to a righteous and spiritual man – only to learn the hard way that he, too, is a sexual predator.

“I really hope I can help other women out of this shadow, because we do not need to feel ashamed,” Mous told the hosts of TV Globo, a Brazilian media network. “He has to feel ashamed, and all the people who protect him so he can continue to do what he does.”

Woman who came forward with accusations that John of God was running sex slave operation mysteriously “commits suicide”

But Mous’ horrific experience is just the tip of the iceberg. Thanks to Oprah’s promotion of John of God (Oprah also aggressively promoted Barack Obama as a type of “messiah,” by the way) he allegedly went on to commit sexual assault, rape, and worse against hundreds of other women and children, using his perceived status as a “man of God” to lure his victims into his clutches. According to Brazilian prosecutors, more than 200 women have come forward to accuse John of God of sexual improprieties against them – including his own daughter, Dalva Teixeira, who says her father repeatedly abused and raped her between the ages of 10 and 14. He only stopped, she claims, after she became pregnant by one of his employees, which resulted in John of God beating her so badly that she miscarried.

Another woman, Sabrina Bittencourt – who, since the writing of our last article and this one, was reported to have committed suicide while on the run and “living under protection” in Lebanon – told officials that John of God had been running a sex slave operation in which newborn babies were being sold for upwards of $51,000 each to clients in the United States, Europe, and Australia.

Bittencourt claimed that John of God offered poor girls between the ages of 14 and 18 the “opportunity” to go live on various mineral mines and farms he owned throughout the Brazilian states of Goias and Minas Gerais. After their arrival, these girls were turned into sex slaves, forced to get pregnant, and their babies sold off for cash “to the highest bidder.”

“In exchange for food, they were impregnated and their babies sold on the black market,” Bittencourt stated before her mysterious death. “Hundreds of girls were enslaved over years, living on farms in Goias, and served as wombs to get pregnant, for their babies to be sold. These girls were murdered after 10 years of giving birth. We have got a number of testimonies.”

It’s the type of horror story that may never have become a reality were it not for the ignorant promotion of this “monster,” as his daughter called him, by the naive and spiritually gullible Oprah Winfrey – who, in response to the unfolding of this case, could only offer “empathy” for the women “now coming forward and I hope justice is served.”
